- 1/ SACRED STYLE Prayer beads date back to the 18th century, crossing many faiths as well as spanning the globe. Of late they have become somewhat of a sacred style accessory, with Frost of London presenting a collection of 18ct white gold and diamond prayer beads with ruby, tanzanite, agate, Tahiti pearl or onyx. From £6,500 / 2/ OFF THE CUFF Less is usually more - but not when it comes to fine jewellery in our opinion. Messika's handmade Move Romane Cuff in 18ct white gold set with pave diamonds gives the illusion of three bangles perfectly embracing the wrist, and is also available in yellow, pink and black gold on request. From £39,200 / 3/ LINKS OF AFFECTION The Menottes collection from Dinh Van represents love and friendship, with one of their signature symbols of embraced handcuffs reminiscing the union of two loved ones. Whimsical in spirit and beautiful in design, we particularly love the Menottes Dinh Van Necklace in 18ct Yellow Gold. £2,400 / 4/ TALK TO ME What's not to love about Maria Kovadi's fairytale hand-crafted fine jewellery? From the Tell Me collection you can express yourself with designs emblazoned with words presented in 18ct gold, along with precious stones such as pink sapphires and blue topaz. We recommend you mix and match rings expressing 'Kiss,' 'Me' and 'Quick', with the 'Tell Me' and 'Your Secret' earrings and 'Look at Me' necklace. 18ct Yellow Gold Ruby Love Ring £1,750
